

The latest news on what's powering our neighborhoods

2018 rebates and incentives now available

Each year, we rely on our best asset—our customers—to help us achieve energy savings. Thank you for your continued commitment to energy efficiency. In 2018, we're proud to offer a variety of programs and rebates to help manage your energy costs at home. We also provide valuable incentives for businesses of all sizes. Find out how you can keep saving at pse.com/rebates and pse.com/mybusiness.

Tools for managing your energy this winter

With colder weather upon us, we want to alert you to valuable tools right at your fingertips. Sign in to your account at pse.com and click My Energy Center. There, you can see your daily energy usage and learn how it compares with last January. In addition, you can:

- Create an online plan for saving energy this winter.
- See how the temperature outside makes your heating equipment work harder.
- See how your energy use compares with your neighbors.

All you need is a myPSE account. If you don't have an account, it's easy. Just sign up by clicking Create Account on our homepage and in no time you'll have the tools you'll need for saving this winter.

Can a phone line kill you?

It can if it's lying on the ground and in contact with a power line. And you don't have to touch the line. A fence, guardrail and even the ground under the line could all be energized. So don't take chances. Stay away from downed lines of any kind. Call PSE or 911 to report them.

Keep meters free of snow and ice

Snow and ice can damage your gas meter and leave you in the cold. Use a broom to gently remove snow and ice from your meter and pipes. When ice thaws, don't allow water to drip onto the meter equipment and refreeze. If you see ice build-up or suspect a problem, call us to report it.
