The latest news on what's powering our neighborhoods

Your power, your choices

Thanks to you, our energy efficiency program is one of the largest in the country. As our region grows, we're able to welcome new customers without sacrificing the sustainability standards you've asked for.

We continually invest in renewables as part of standard supply and via voluntary customer programs. In 2017 we launched two new clean energy programs to help customers meet sustainability goals.

Solar Choice is a 100 percent solar program for renters or homeowners to match usage with solar energy generated by independent power producers.

Green Direct is for large-scale commercial users looking to achieve long-term carbon reduction goals. It is used by local companies, cities and government institutions like REI, Starbucks and King County.

These programs build on our existing renewables. Our Green Power Program blends energy sources like hydro and gas from landfills. Customer Connected Solar allows customers to generate electricity and connect to our grid. Carbon Balance neutralizes a customer's carbon footprint by supporting projects that actively remove, or keep, carbon from the air.
