Local Engagement

As part of PSE's 'ARTility' project, PSE worked with a local Roslyn artist, Eric Jensen, on a piece of artwork that was installed at the transformer located at Pioneer Park near W Idaho and N 3rd Street. 'ARTility' is a beautification project aimed at saving customers money by reducing or elimination graffiti cleanup costs.

Kittitas County is also the home to the Wild Horse wind facility, one of three wind farms owned by PSE. Wild Horse has 149 turbines and can provide enough power for 60,000-70,000 homes per year. Wild Horse also features the Renewable Energy Center (REC), which is open daily from April 1 to October 31 and has daily tours inside the base of a turbine. Since its opening in 2008, over 180,000 people have visited the site.
