Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.

Photo simulations created by:

Sammamish–Juanita Transmission Line Project

Date: 7/30/2015
Time: 9:43 AM
Viewing Direction: SOUTH
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory reviews. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is completed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.
Photo simulations are for demonstration purposes only, and do not depict the exact location of any project improvements. Final design is subject to change pending public, utility, and regulatory review. These photo simulations are intended to depict before and after conditions of the transmission line based on the most current design. Background imagery and landscaping in the after images may not accurately depict actual conditions once the project is constructed.